DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuroiwa et al (4,142,407).

Regarding claim 1, Kuroiwa et al teaches a flow meter arrangement comprising: a venturi-type flow meter having a tubular flow channel for conveying a gas flow to be measured, the venturi-type flow meter emitting an output (2, fig. 3); a hot wire flow meter having a sensing element (8) disposed in the flow channel of the venturi-type flow meter (fig. 3), the hot wire flow meter generating an output (col. 4, lines 17-30); and a measurement system connected to the venturi-type flow meter and to the hot wire flow meter to receive the respective outputs therefrom, the measurement system determining a gas flow rate in the flow channel from the output (11, 12, 13 and 14).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuriowa et al.

Regarding claim 5, Kuriowa et al fails to explicitly teach a difference former for forming a difference value between the output from the venturi-type flow meter and the output from the hot wire flow meter, and a comparator for determining if the difference value exceeds a predetermined threshold. Kuriowa et al teaches an input switching circuit (11) and an operational circuit (13). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time that the invention was made to have used the switching circuit and operation circuit of Kuriowa et al for the purpose of correcting characteristics of the flow rate, since in order make a correction, a comparison has to be made as well as determining if a threshold has been exceeded.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

4,449,401 Kaiser et al teaches a hot/film/swirl flow meter

4,404,859 Ohsawa et al teaches a venturi type flow meter
